I harbor no jealousy or possess any inclination to take the place of the individual who creates a sensation or makes a living climbing buildings tall or small. I seem to have an impulse to piten myself out of a window when I get into the high places. When I was a kid it was a delight to ramble all over buildings during construction, and under precarious conditions. Now the sidewalk often appears too far away. And I never did get any pleasure out of any performance where the individual took the risk of losing his life. Believe I'd vote in favor of an ordinance prohibiting such exhibitions.

And then Jim Liebig saunters downtown Saturday forenoon with a morning paper in one hand and an umbrella in the other. Professional affiliation validated the newspaper, but why in the dickens when we needed rain so badly did he have to carry an umbrella? I invite a deluge and can take it. Anyway we got the rain.

Joel Ogle, in an explanatory interpretation to Barney Koster as to how Frank Briggs escorted himself out of business temporarily, was so convulsing that I had to get into the fresh air. Barney hadn't been favored with the particulars. It seems that Harold Brown was the preferred customer, and generous like he offered to operate the shop for a week. However, it wasn't necessary, as Frank came out of the anesthetic in time. The old slogan is posted again: "Business as usual," but under unusual circumstances.

Another optimistic friend inquires about getting a carving knife sharpened. Says the other fellow has the turkey.

The elements released a flood of business blessings on the merchants Saturday evening, on which they will realize during the week. Gift buying was only delayed—not lost. It was an entirely different physiology as encountered Monday morning. How quickly a good soaking rain can change the countenance of the inhabitants of Southern California, especially if you are a rancher.

And then a friend comes in to tell me something about a nudist colony and a gold mining enterprise located in the same neighborhood. Uh, huh.

And why do they call them games of chance? They're a cinch. The player has as much right for his white ally as the rich man had to get back to Lazarus for a drink of water. However, boys will be boys, no matter how old they are.

The northern part of the state is getting more rain than it wants, and the southern part less than it wants. You should think a mutual division should be beneficial to both sections. I want to protest against the inequality of distribution.

Early Christmas mailing also has its virtues, and effect. During my occasional trips to the postoffice so far this season the congestion has not been noticeable. Maybe that is because the public has adapted itself to the long-time apathy for early mailing, and then the branch office at the Grand Central takes quite a bit of the load off the regular force. No matter, early mailing is as important as early shopping.

An amoeba is said to be the lowest form of animal life. And then there is the fellow who stole the baby's milk off the front porch.

Met a party the other day who said he preferred unfavorable publicity to none at all. To be ignored was real punishment.

Labor Denies "Beef"

Lake Beaten By Outsider, Claim Of Teamster Head

"There are no beef squads in Orange county—we will not tolerate such tactics here!" That was the answer returned today by R. G. Mullendore, business agent for the Orange county teamsters' union, to yesterday's warning by the county Citizens' Association, that they "would not tolerate" strong-arm methods in local labor quarrels.

HALL SEEKS M'ADOO TOGA

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Peirson M. Hall, former United States attorney for Southern California, today announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator next year to succeed William Gibbs McAdoo.

Hall refused to elaborate on his announcement. He was one of McAdoo's campaign managers when the present senator was elected in 1932.

Politicians frequently have mentioned Hall as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of California, but only occasionally in connection with the senatorial nomination.

FRAUD CHARGE REVIVED

Fraud 20 years ago was charged today in a superior court lawsuit.

W. L. Kerr filed suit against Phoebe J. Calhoun, whom he alleges gave him $3500 on Dec. 1, 1916, to invest for her, and William Dietrich, allegedly employed by her to deprive Kerr of the money. The funds, he alleges, were invested in property in Los Angeles county.

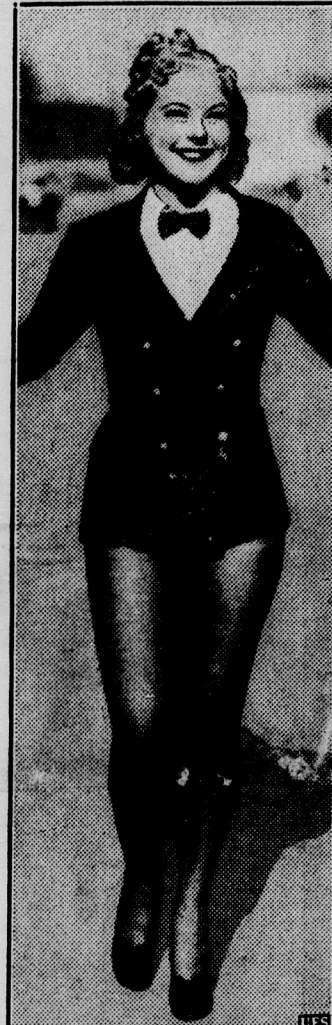

Chinese Troops Kill Missionary

PEIPING, China. (AP)—Garland Leonard, Pentecostal missionary from Yale, Iowa, was shot and killed by Chinese soldiers at Yuanping, North Shansi province, on Oct. 7, reports received here said today.

A message from the British Baptists hospital at Taiyuanfu, through Domei (Japanese) News agency, said Mrs. Leonard was safe at Taiyuanfu.

Knighted

Believe it or not, the "lady fair" is now the knight. Sonja Henie is now Norway's youngest (and loveliest) member of the Order of St. Olaf. The dazzling young queen of the ice was recently included in the order by King Haakon. (More about Sonja in Robin Cook's Hollywood column on Page 9 today.)

TRUCK MEN DEMAND WORK

"Why aren't we getting any county work?"

A delegation of independent truck owners demanded an answer to that question from the board of supervisors today, but they got their answer from Engineer Nick Thompson of the flood control district, who assured them no funny business was involved in the hiring of trucks.

The flood control district has asked for certain rates on trucks of specified size, Thompson explained, "and we've asked all the owners on our list if they can do it for that."

The six-man delegation was satisfied with his recommendation that they leave their names and telephone numbers in his office.

'Pray and Die,' Gun Wielder Tells Wife

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A wife was forced by her husband to kneel and pray, police reported, after he kidnapped a taxicab driver and killed a beer parlor operator last night.

Detective Lieutenant Burt M. Corliss said Ernest Dickey, 25, sign painter, told his wife, Donnie, 20: "Pray because I'm going to kill you."

Fifteen customers in the barroom watched helplessly. Corliss said, but Dickey did not fire. He surrendered to police and was booked on suspicion of murdering Tony D. Ramirez, 49.

Detective Corliss said Dickey was jealous of Ramirez because Mrs. Dickey worked as a waitress in his beer parlor.

RIVERSIDE BET LAW
RIVERSIDE. (AP)—Turf betting agencies in Riverside county will be required to pay an annual license fee of $1000 under terms of an ordinance now being drafted.

'HOLDS NO BRIEF' FOR OFFICIALS

D. A. Rules Out Ordinance

Challenging Supervisor N. E. West to point out "inconsistencies" or a change of attitude in his legal advice on the county salary ordinance, Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton today reiterated his stand that three phases of the new law are illegal.

Meanwhile Supervisor West awaited tomorrow, when he must appear before the grand jury to explain his charges of "misuse of public funds" and "illegally collected fees" against county officials. The grand jury, it was understood, will make a thorough probe of the courthouse ruckus.

MENTON RULES

Menton, in a seven-page opinion requested after West's charges had started a first-class war, ruled that:

1. Employees, by statute, are entitled to 15 days' vacation with pay each year; and supervisors cannot cut down vacations by limiting total absence from sick leave and vacation to 15 days.

2. New salaries are payable Nov. 1, not Dec. 1.

3. The county may seize fees of elective officials, but cannot return or allow retention of a stated part of them, since that constitutes an increase in compensation during their term of office.

6 Moro Outlaws Die in Battle

MANILA. (AP)—Six Moro outlaws were killed and one Philippine army officer wounded in engagements preceding government capture today of Moro Fort Taraka in Lanao province.

Two notorious Moro chieftains were among the dead. Before retreating after four hours' fighting, the Moros set fire to 40 nearby houses of non-combatant residents.

Previous casualties in the campaign to destroy Moro forts were two soldiers and six Moros killed and 14 soldiers and six Moros wounded.

Politeness But No Cash on War Debts

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Italy and Yugoslavia entered new defaults today on their semi-final war debt payments to the United States.

In polite diplomatic notes they professed their inability to pay. As of tomorrow, Italy will owe $84,119,757 and Yugoslavia $1,913,515 in current and past due installments.

A total of $1,680,170,447 falls due from 13 war debtors this month. Only Finland has continued to make payments promptly.

SHIPS DISCONTINUED
SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—There is no chance the Grace Steamship company will keep its ships in intercoastal service pending congressional action on possible renewal of a subsidy. J. W. Howell, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, said today. Howell talked by telephone yesterday with D. D. Kiglehart, Grace company president, in New York City.

SCHOOL FIGHT STILL ON

Months of maneuvering in the Yorba district school fight continued today with another maneuver.

A petition, signed by Yorba and Richfield residents who want to get back in the Placentia unified district after being removed early this year, was denied by supervisors this morning when it was found an error in legal description of the district had been changed without new signatures on the petition.

The petitioners will file a new request after the signatures have been obtained again, said Tom McFadden, attorney for the Yorba residents.

Discussion on the motion denying the petition brought a verbal tangle between Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton and B. Z. McKinney, Santa Ana attorney, employed recently by Supervisor N. E. West to oppose Menton's official opinion on the salary ordinance.

McKinney maintained McFadden had said nothing about filing a new petition, and Menton said the board had the right to include mention of the new petition in its motion, although it would not affect rights of the petitioners.

Officer Shot By Gunmen Leaves Hospital Today

Border Patrolman Allen Stone went home today.

He was discharged from Santa Ana Valley hospital as cured, after two weeks of treatment.

Stone was shot through the chest by a gunman whom he attempted to stop as he drove into San Clemente from the south on the afternoon of Dec. 1. Wide-spread search for Stone's assailant proved fruitless.

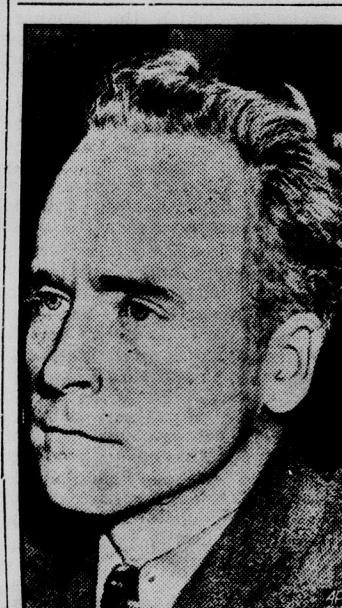

The gunman was believed by federal officers to be William Boyd, desperado who shot and critically wounded a San Diego police officer a month ago and indulged in a running battle with U. S. and Mexican officers before being captured. Boyd escaped from a Tijuana jail a short time later.

Authorities in all southwestern states were searching for Boyd, wanted in Texas and California. He also is wanted in Santa Ana, where he escaped a year ago from the Orange county hospital while awaiting trial on felony charges.

HUEY'S BAND DISMISSED
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The 208-piece, colorful, expertly drilled band, once known as the "pride and joy" of the late Senator Huey P. Long, may do no more tooting for Louisiana State university. The band has been "dismissed" by Director Castro Carazo, hired by Long to "make the band the best in the land," following demands of handmen for extra expense money to play at the Sugar Bowl football game in New Orleans New Year's day.

O. B. Brown, 29, Fullerton bootblack, was booked in the county jail yesterday on a simple assault charge. He was arrested by Anaheim police.

DEATH TAKES 'BILLY' LORENZ

The city said good-bye today to one of its best-loved business pioneers.

W. C. (Billy) Lorenze, veteran jeweler, dropped dead some time during the night in his room at the Elks club. He was found this morning by Secretary William Majors when he called to inquire after Lorenz's health.

Apparently the jeweler had suffered a stroke, Coroner Earl Abbey said. An autopsy was ordered.

His death was unexpected. Majors said Mr. Lorenz had returned from his store early yesterday afternoon, complaining of not feeling well, but last night apparently had recovered. He had no immediate family, and had lived at the club for the past four years. He had been a member of the Elks' lodge for the past 28 years, joining shortly after coming to Santa Ana in 1908 from Nashville, Ill. He was 51 years of age.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. V. R. Willis, Albuquerque, N. M., and Miss E. Lorenz, St. Louis, Mo., and one brother, Ed Lorenz of Nashville, Ill.

Funeral services will be announced later by Brown and Wagner.

Envoy to England Goes Under Knife

BALTIMORE. (AP)—Robert W. Bingham, ambassador to England, was operated upon today at Johns Hopkins hospital in an effort to determine the exact cause of his illness.

Dr. William F. Rienhoff, jr., the surgeon, said a definite diagnosis had not been made, and the operation had been decided upon to aid the physician.

Bingham entered the hospital Nov. 25, shortly after his arrival from London. He has been ambassador to the Court of St. James since 1933.

County Welfare Dropping Off

Welfare case loads are "tapering off," Welfare Director Jack Snow told the board of supervisors today.

During November, Snow said, there was a net increase in the total agency case load of only 80, as compared with 124 in October and 319 in September.

A net gain of 90 in the old-age security list was shown, with one blind and one orphan case added. Indigent rolls showed a decline of 15 during the month. Total case load stood at 3608.

Four Known Dead From Attack on U. S. Gunboat

BULLETIN
SHANGHAI (Wednesday) (AP)—The known death toll from the bombing of the United States gunboat Panay and three other American steamers increased to four today when the badly burned body of an unidentified seaman was found.

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Refugees from the bombed United States gunboat, the Panay, were imperiled again today by a clash between Japanese and Chinese troops around Hohsen, hindering rescue efforts of foreign naval vessels on the Yangtze.

It had been expected it would be possible to begin taking the 52 survivors aboard the United States gunboat Oahu and the British gunboat Bee late today, but the new outbreak of fighting interrupted plans.

The two gunboats, along with the Japanese ship, Hozu, were lying at the mouth of a creek entering the Yangtze at Hohsen, about 45 miles up the river from Nanking.

RESCUE PARTIES
Naval rescue parties were last reported trying to make contact with the Panay refugees, on their way from Hanhsan, some 20 miles inland, toward the river town, bearing their two dead and eight seriously injured.

Neither the Oahu nor the Bee reported the refugees had reached Hohsen tonight.

An attempt was made to induce the Japanese to withdraw from the area and stop the fighting until the rescue could be effected. One British officer went ashore with a Japanese naval officer, hoping the latter could persuade Japanese soldiers to move away from Hohsen.

Japanese detachments, coming in river boats, were vigorously pressing their offensive against Chinese detachments in that area.

RECOVER BODY
The Oahu radioed tonight the body of Captain C. H. Carlson, skipper of the Melan, Standard Oil company river vessel bombed at the same time as the Panay attack, had been recovered. The Japanese were preparing it for burial and it will be sent to Shanghai.

The two others known to have been killed Sunday in the Japanese bombardment of the Panay and three Standard Oil vessels were Charles L. Ensminger of Ocean Beach, Panay storekeeper, and Sandro Sandri, Italian newspaper man who had sought refuge on board the vessel.

Available information of the attack which endangered 79 foreigners, mostly Americans, was that two were dead, eight seriously wounded, two slightly wounded, 11 foreigners and 81 Chinese missing, and probably a FLEE ATTACKS

J. C. Xmas Tree Must Be Xmas Gift—If Any

Wanted—one exterior decorator. Apply at the Santa Ana Junior college.

Because if the jaycee doesn't find someone to decorate its tree for Xmas this year they won't have any tree.

This was discovered last night when the board of education refused to bear the cost ($50) of setting up and decorating the traditional Christmas tree on the college campus. Donated labor, they indicated, would be acceptable.

CHINA'S CAPITAL IN FLAMES AS JAPAN FORMS NEW GOVERNMENT

SLAUGHTER OF FIGHTERS IS REPORTED

Nipponese Advance New Regime Plan

SHANGHAI (AP)—Great fires blazed in fallen Nanking tonight as the Japanese army, relentlessly pursuing its punitive mission deep into China, rolled on past the conquered capital.

Japanese fliers reported flames raging through what only a few weeks ago had been the proud seat of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

Fragmentary reports, filtering in over disrupted communications, indicated actual fighting had ended within the walls of Nanking and Japanese troops, without slackening their offensive campaign, were carrying their operations farther afield.

Unverified reports of the Japanese virtually slaughtering the defeated Chinese soldiers around Nanking circulated here, giving rise to grave fears for the safety of Nanking residents as well.

NO COMMUNICATIONS Actual information as to the situation within the captured city was unavailable because regular communications were out of commission and the Japanese having the only contact.

Japanese army and naval spokesmen here said tonight they had no information about the situation in Nanking since its occupation by Japanese troops. They pleaded lack of communications.

While tremendous clouds of smoke shrouded the fallen city, a new provisional government for China—under the aegis of conquering Nippon—was formed at Peiping.

The guiding principles of the new regime, reported Domei (Japanese news agency), were vigorous opposition to the harassed government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, suppression of communism and cooperation with Japan and Manchukuo.

NEW CABINET Among the officials of the provisional regime were two former presidents of China, three former premiers, five former finance ministers and four other one-time cabinet officers, the Japanese news agency said.

The communiqué on the occupation of Nanking gave no word of the 18 Americans still believed in Nanking. Japanese spokesmen said they were without information concerning the Americans and the handful of other foreigners or foreign-owned property.

In the communiqué was a hint that the conquering Japanese war machine would thrust on into the heart of China: "Although Nanking has fallen, so long as anti-Japanese sentiments exist in China the sentiments of the Japanese people are that hostilities have just begun."

This rumor lacks confirmation, but Chet Baxter slips me a confidential note that Alex Brownridge is going to give Bob Brown a homing-pigeon for Christmas.

Spontaneous long-distance recognition sometimes puzzles people. Sunday a Santa Ana citizen was listening to a radio program over which the soloist was singing "On the Road to Mandalay." He called up a local vocalist whose favorite selection is Kipling's production. When his friend answered he came to the phone singing most lustily the same song, and immediately spoke the name of the man who had called him. The same party got another shock when he phoned to another friend who as promptly recognized his voice.

And this one from the Union Oil Bulletin: "In a traffic accident in downtown Los Angeles recently two auto drivers were so badly injured that they were unable to argue over the right-of-way."

Truck loads of Christmas trees are on the way to the merchants. I never worried so much about getting a Christmas tree as I did about what I was going to put on it. In the long ago I was also interested about getting something off of it. Don't worry me any more.

Mrs. Ida Ewing, 501 East Fourth street, sustained a possible fractured rib in a crash at Third and Broadway streets yesterday.

Her husband, Frank Ewing, and Anthony Theodore Bellini, 25, Corona, were driving cars involved in the accident.

Sinner Loses Cynicism

A change of attitude, sudden as it was dramatic, took place in a Bucharest courtroom when Sinner Constantinescu (right) heard himself sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor for slaying his father in 1936. Previously his manner had been described as cynical.

Panay Survivors Periled By New Japanese Attack

There was no word of the 68 missing Chinese members of the crews of the Melan, Meinsia and Melping, Standard Oil company boats destroyed in the bombing attacks for which the Japanese navy has accepted full responsibility. It was believed, however, that most of them had been saved.

It was learned in Shanghai that the Japanese planes made five separate attacks on the Panay and Standard Oil vessels. The Panay did not sink for 90 minutes, leading to the hope that all on board had at least a chance to swim ashore.

Efforts were under way to locate possible straggling survivors along the river banks. The Oahu wireless that its plan was to bring survivors and dead to Shanghai with the aid of the Japanese destroyers and the understanding of Japanese assurance for a safe passage down stream.

The more seriously wounded may be flown to Shanghai on board the Japanese planes, one of which carried doctors, nurses and medical supplies.

PERRY WINS CARRIER PRIZE

Wallace Perry, 13-year-old Huntington Beach high school boy, is delivering his Santa Ana Journal route today on a brand new motor glide, the $130 sweepstakes award in The Journal carrier contest. For Wallace had a total of 97,400 points which was 20,000 above his nearest competitor, Clair Rowley of Santa Ana.

Rowley was awarded a bicycle for his 73,200 points and Charles Boone of Costa Mesa received a radio. His score was 55,200. Earl Gibson of Santa Ana placed fourth with 45,500 and The Journal presented him with a sleeping bag. Nyle Ryland of Garden Grove was fifth with 24,200 points and received a regular big game football.

E. H. Long, circulation manager of The Journal, complimented more than 50 other carrier boys today who were in the contest and assured them that their success, while not sufficient to win for them major prizes, will be recognized by cash compensation commensurate to the work they put into the contest.

D. A. UPHOLDS FEE LAW

NO BRIEF FOR OFFICERS "I hold no brief for the officers who are affected by the fee provisions of the ordinance," said Menton. "I assume that they are entirely capable of looking after their own interests. I assume the board had no ulterior motives nor any desire to injure or discriminate against any particular office or officer. My only interest in the matter is to construe the provisions of the ordinance and determine their effect."

Menton hinted in his opinion at the fact that the ordinance was drafted outside his office (reportedly by McKinney and James L. Davis) when he said he had no means of knowing what the board intended on the sick leave clause which he termed ambiguous.

On the fee clause, subject of a bitter battle between West on one side and Menton, Auditor W. T. Lambert and other officials on the other, the district attorney said: "In view of the foregoing reasoning and authorities it is my opinion that the method provided by the ordinance for reimbursing officers for fees required by the ordinance to be accounted for and turned over to the county would be invalid during the present term of the officers for the reasons above stated."

SUICIDE ENDS DEATH PLOT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The final ironic twist was given yesterday to a macabre plot in which, Detective Lieutenant Aldo Corsini said, a Glendale drug salesman tried to hire the slaying of his wealthy brother-in-law.

The salesman, John L. Peterson, World War veteran and father of two children, is dead. Detective Corsini said he died by his own hand, taking poison in jail after he was booked on suspicion of conspiracy to commit murder Saturday night.

The brother-in-law, Floyd G. Withrow, drug manufacturer, explained today: "I can't understand John's thinking of such a thing. We have never quarreled. His kids play with my little boy and girl."

"The police say John tried to have me killed to get my business. I've planned for sometime to turn it over to him as a Christmas gift. I was going to tell him when I gave the four kids the bicycles I bought for them."

Postmaster Warns Parcel Senders

It's bad business to inclose letters or other first class mail in Christmas parcels, according to Postmaster Frank Harwood.

Besides being illegal, such packages will be charged for at first class rates, or three cents an ounce. A parcel weighing 10 pounds would have a mailing cost of $4.80 attached to it, for example.

A safer policy to follow is to place that letter in a three-cent stamped envelope and paste it to the outside of the parcel. "Then it will arrive at the same time and no penalty will be applied," Harwood stated.

Pomona Students Home for Xmas

Twelve Santa Ana students at Pomona college will return Dec. 17 to spend the holidays at home, the college announced today.

Among the homing Pomonians are Gertrude Amling, women's tennis champion; Willard Stearns, varsity broad jumper, and Donald Watson, swimming star. Others include Franklin Davis, Geraldine Gilbert, Elizabeth Heil, Dora Lloyd, Thomas Matzen, Edgar and Robert Pankey, Janet Raitt and Norman Watson.

Doctor Appointed In Polio Case

Appointment of an additional expert medical examiner to hear the case of Margaret Paul Hess vs. the county of Orange was approved by the board of supervisors today on request of the industrial accident commission.

One medical expert already had been appointed in the case, one of those involving nurses who assertedly contracted infantile paralysis while working at the county hospital.

TRAFFIC DEATH INQUEST

An inquest into the sudden death Saturday night of Murrell McDonald, 23, killed while fixing a tire on rainy-west Seventeenth street, was to be conducted from the Brown and Wagner mortuary at 3 p. m. today, Cor. Earl Abey announced.

Sewing Project O. K.'d by Board

Assured the schools would not be required to furnish money for it, members of the board of education last night voted to sponsor an NYA sewing project to be conducted in several school buildings.

The project has already received the signature of approval by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent, according to Supt. Frank Henderson. Clothes and garments made by the workers on this are sold or given away to the unemployed. Superintendent Henderson told the board.

Proposal by two local men that they will furnish book covers for the schools, provided advertisements could be placed on these, was rejected by the board.

Matter of salary adjustments brought up at the Nov. 8 meeting will be carried over to the meeting two weeks from last night to permit school officials to conduct a further investigation.

A reckless driving charge yesterday landed Joe C. Martinez, 19, Placentia, in the county jail after he failed to pay a $25 fine in Anaheim city court.

SPEED FLYER WRECKS PLANE

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jacqueline Cochran escaped injury when a gust of wind upset her plane after she had landed on an attempt to break the woman's international speed record over a 100 kilometer closed course.

Miss Cochran flew to a pylon at Deerfield and back in an elapsed time of 13 minutes, 34 seconds. The time was sent to Washington for checking to see if it surpassed the mark of 256.13 miles an hour set by Helen Boucher of France.

The blonde aviatrix had made a perfect landing and was taxiing across the field when the wind blew the ship over on its nose, damaging the propeller, landing gear and cowlings.

FINED $100

Carl L. Baynes, 62, 411 East Cypress street, Anaheim, was booked in county jail on a drunk driving charge yesterday. He was fined $100, with an alternate of serving 50 days in jail, in Anaheim city court.

MAN DEPORTED

James Franklin Trainer, Canadian, left Orange county today on a deportation train. He was arrested six months ago on charges of illegal entry. Inspector Franklin Davis said.

Prisoner Praised But Charge Stands

Bouquets went to John J. Madden, chased to Arizona on a fictitious check charge, when he brought back the ailing detective who'd gone after him the other day.

But there still was the matter of the assertedly fictitious checks, and Madden now must answer to the superior court, Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison ruled yesterday.

Two of the three check counts were dismissed on motion of the district attorney's office, however, and bail was reduced to $1000.

Madden was being returned from Tucson, Ariz., when Detective Hunter Leach, who had gone to get him, suddenly became ill. The roles were reversed and Madden brought Leach back to Orange county.

Pair Charged With Neglect of Mother

Non-support of a minor child charges average about one a day in Santa Ana justice court, but a non-support complaint yesterday struck a new note.

Alvin V. Teel and Mrs. Vivian Jordan, Santa Ana, were charged with failing to support an indigent parent. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Mary A. Teel, mother of the pair.

FED. PLAYERS IN CONCERT

The Orange County Federal symphony will attempt its most ambitious program Thursday night in Santa Ana High school auditorium.

Included on the program will be Tschakowsky's symphony No. 4, Bizet's "L'Arlésienne" suite, and a group of numbers from representative American writers.

Highlighting the concert will be the first appearance here of 13-year-old Gloria Chiappinelli, violin prodigy. She will play Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor.

The Tschakowsky and Bizet numbers are by all odds the most difficult of the Thursday repertoire, although the American music will task the ingenuity of the 45 musicians in the group.

They include Henry Kimball Hadley's "Poppies," Carl Busch's string arrangement of Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home" and the prelude to act two of Walter Damrosch's "Cyrano."

The concert will open at 8:15 p. m., under the baton of Director Leon Eckles. Tickets at popular prices may be obtained the evening of the performance at the high school. The ticket office will open at 7 p. m.

SEVEN-CENT INCREASE DEMANDED BY FIELD WORKERS

MEXICANS ASK NEW WAGE, HOUR PACT

3500 Farm Employees Affected

Wage increases amounting to 7 cents an hour for a nine-hour day were demanded today by the Federation of Mexican field workers.

The demands were submitted by the workers' committee to the Mexican-Japanese arbitration board, and to the Orange county grievance committee, with a request for action by those boards and the state labor commissioner by March 31, 1938.

The action was taken as the result of a wage and hour agreement reached last July, which was effective for six months. A provision set up the machinery for further negotiations by representatives of the 3500 field workers in this county.

The prior agreement, reached after a threatened field workers' strike here, started by parleys called for a 30-cent hourly wage, and a nine-hour day. The present petition asks 37 cents an hour.

Included in the demands are two others:

That tractor operators and team operators be allowed a wage of 39 cents per hour for nine hours;

That the operation of the contract system in harvesting of chili pods be disregarded as "detrimental for the well-being of our workers."

The workers' committee also asks time and half pay for all work over nine hours.

Action on the request will be taken by the state labor commissioner, Lucas Lucio, consular representative here, said, following parleys with the arbitration board.

On the board are Ted Blanding, representing the workers; Harry D. Zimmer, representing the growers, and Thomas Barker, representative of the state labor commission.

TOMATO FIGHT UP AGAIN

An old bugaboo confronted Orange county vegetable growers today, as the farm bureau launched renewed efforts seeking favorable contracts for cannery tomatoes in Southern California.

Thomas A. Robertson of Simi, chairman of the state farm bureau vegetable department, and Lowell Miller, California Farm Bureau Federation attorney, at a growers' meeting last night outlined progress of the battle with canneries in the northern part of the state, which they claimed has resulted in more favorable terms under what is known as a "farm bureau contract."

R. D. Flaherty, bureau secretary, last year waged a determined fight to obtain such a contract here. Officials announced they hoped to incorporate several items of such contracts in one to be drawn up between county growers and canneries.

Possibility of concerted action against short weights in cannery measures, and the question of refunds on lug boxes also was discussed.

Flaherty announced a committee of local growers will be named tomorrow to assist negotiations for the new contracts.

Santa Ana Eastern Star Holds Annual Installation

Mrs. Sue Henry was installed worthy matron and Forrest White worthy patron last night when Santa Ana chapter, No. 389, Order of Eastern Star observed the 17th annual installation of elective and appointive officers in the local Masonic temple.

Carlyle Dennis, past worthy patron of the chapter, presided as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Helen Auben, first worthy matron of the chapter, read a selection during the ceremony, and Mrs. Nellie Sylvester, past worthy matron, brought in the Bible.

All the officers being installed were gown in white frocks and carried shower bouquets of sweet peas. Mrs. Betty Gowdy, retiring worthy matron, was dressed in pink net and carried a sheaf of rosebuds.

Other officials were Mrs. Pearl Lyan, associate matron; Glen Lyan, associate patron; Mrs. Estelita McFarren, secretary; Mrs. Janice Turner, treasurer; Mrs. Ellen Smith, conductress; Mrs. Hattie Basler, associate conductress; Mrs. Virginia Holmes, marshal; Mrs. Lillian Vinson, chaplain; Mrs. Mary Adrian, organist; Mrs. Jessie Overton, warder; Alex. CARS PRIDE OF VILLAGERS

Auto Expense Next To Food

(This is the second of three articles presenting the "Average Orange county family." They are based on research by the bureau of home economics, U. S. department of agriculture, under a WPA project.)

By BOB GUILD

Village families in Orange county are prouder of their cars than anything else they own.

Out of every $100 earned by villagers in the county, $18 goes toward upkeep of the family vehicle. Only food costs more. Not only that, but 88 out of every hundred families earning between $750 and $1500 a year own cars.

This is strictly a California phenomenon. In the southeastern states, even in the higher income groups the automobile usually accounts for a smaller outlay than food, clothing, housing, or running the house. But California owns more cars to the square inch than any other part of the world.

The automobile seems to be virtually the sole means of transportation for village families. Average annual expense for other travel and transportation is but $10 for nearly all groups, and in the majority of occupational and income classes is under an average of 50 cents a month.

Most families in these villages spend between 25 and 40 cents of every dollar for food. The higher the income, the more is spent by families with the lowest incomes, while families which have attained annual incomes of $2000 and over spend only between 25 and 30 per cent of their total outlay on food.

Actual amounts spent for food, however, increase with the size of income in all occupational groups. Families of wage earners increase their food expense more as income rises than do families of business and professional workers.

Interesting fact: Expense for barber and beauty shop services, and for toilet articles and cosmetics, accounts for $2 to $3 out

WALNUT MEN MEET HERE

Walnut growers of Southern California will meet in Orange county Feb. 11, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg announced today.

The inter-county walnut growers committee of the farm bureau today accepted the farm advisor's invitation to hold the annual institute here, following the recent Los Angeles growers' conference. Local delegates to the conference included A. D. Smiley, Garden Grove; J. A. Smiley, West Orange; A. J. McFadden, Santa Ana, and Wahlberg. Place of the institute will be announced later.

Officers for the inter-county walnut group were elected at the Los Angeles meeting. They include:

C. E. Kelsey, Santa Paula, chairman; E. O. Campbell, Goleta, vice chairman, and Robert Pearson, Ventura, secretary.

The year's program includes the annual institute and field day, economic study of cost of harvesting and drying walnuts, study of irrigation and fertilizer responses to walnuts, study of plan to remove marginal orchards, and continuation of pest control investigation.

The Orange county walnut committee was to meet today in farm bureau hall to outline plans for the coming season. Rufus Porter, Fullerton, is chairman of the local committee.

U. S. BLAMED FOR BAD CHECK

The U. S. immigration service today was blamed for an $80 check that bounced.

Jailed on a felony check charge, H. E. Garcia, 23, Needles, told officers it was just the government's red tape that kept him from depositing funds to cover the check.

After passing the check in Fullerton as payment on a car, Garcia said he and his wife went to Tia Juana, where they were stranded because border patrolmen wouldn't permit his wife, a Mexican woman "born and raised in Needles," to return across the border.

They made their way along the border, finally re-entering the United States at Yuma, Ariz., where they were arrested yesterday and returned to Orange county by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey and Jailer Theo. Lacy, Jr.

Or Spanish descent, Garcia is the son of a major in the U. S. army.

Thieves Outfit For Winter

Petty thievery struck a practical note in chilly Santa Ana streets last night as theft of two hats and an overcoat were reported to police.

Don Hilliard, 925 Lowell street, valued loss of his coat and hat at $16. They were stolen from his car, parked on Third street between Birch and Ross streets. A hat belonging to W. C. Smith, 314 South Broadway street, was stolen from the same block at about the same time.

Little Things That Count

By DALE CARNEGIE

Most people are inclined to think that employers judge their things by the big and important things they do. This may not be true; often the boss makes up his mind about you from the way you perform some simple task.

Otto H. Kahn, the banker, in an introduction to "The Girl and Her Job," by Esther Eberstadt

DALE CARNEGIE Brooke, tells how he got his first promotion: The firm where I worked sent out thousands of circulars each day. The office did not have sponges for wetting the stamps, so we had to "lick" the stamps ourselves.

From a sheet of 100 stamps we tore off a row of 10, passed our tongues over them, and by a deft bit of manipulation stamped ten envelopes in almost one single motion.

"I didn't like the job, but I was determined to make the most of it and licked away as hard as I could. One day I saw our boss watching us, and I thought he was watching me in particular. I went ahead as I had been doing, attaching no significance to it. That evening he asked me to stay, and when I did, he told me he was going to promote me. When I tell my friends about it I always say, 'I got my present job by being a good stamp lickier,' and that is exactly true."

A student of mine who is with the New York Telephone company told me about a contest that his company had. A new department head was to be selected and the company wanted to get the best man in the organization to fill it. The company was buzz and it so happened that all the contestants except one were college men.

The poor lone non-college man was up against it, for he saw the college men turn in most involved charts, diagrams and outline plans, with working specifications.

The non-college man became quite bewildered by these professional touches, but he had a pretty good mind after all, for he put two file-boxes on his desk for the clerks to use, and he lettered two signs and fastened one to each box.

One sign said, "Each evening put all your finished work in Box Number 1."

On the other box he fastened this sign:

"Put all your unfinished work in Box Number 2. God help you if I find any of your work in Box Number 2!"

Disappearance of Mrs. Georgia Oal Pruitt, petite young wife of Cornelius Pruitt, Fuller Park, today had started a statewide search for the girl.

Described as 18 years old, blonde, 4 feet 2 inches in height, Mrs. Pruitt had left for Buena Park Sunday to visit a girl friend, Pruitt told deputy sheriffs. She was reported last seen in a Buena Park cafe at 2:30 that afternoon, according to a sheriff's report.

SCHOOL FLOORS TO BE FIXED

Power to choose an architect to draw up plans for proposed strengthening of the Lathrop school auditorium was handed to the building committee of the board of education last night. Approximately $3000 will be expended on the work, with $1500 going toward strengthening the floors.

Also on last night's docket: Plans for changing the Spurgeon school fence, under fire since a boy was injured at the school playground several months ago, were referred to the building committee, with a suggestion for using WPA labor.

Kiwanis clubmen of Santa Ana will send two Dons and four Saints, who were selected on honorary teams by the Southern California board of football, to a dinner honoring them at the Elks club in Los Angeles a week from tonight. . . . Russell (Red) Roquet, tackle, and Joe Crawford, guard, of Santa Ana Jaycees, and Larry Stump, tackle, of Bob Maddock, guard; Don Warhurst, end; and Bill Musick, fullback, of Santa Ana High school were chosen.

Graduation will deprive him of both players in February, but Coach Joe Koegler plans to use Milton Smith and Bill Musick on the Santa's basketball varsity during the early stages of the Citrus Belt league campaign.

"Unfortunately, we do not have the height of some of our rivals this season," Koegler said, "but our squad is improving and we should win our share of the games."

Smith, whose height was prominent at end on Bill Foot's championship grid team; and Musick, whose ruggedness earned him all-league recognition at fullback, will be eligible for first-round basketball games during January.

Basketball is costing Col. Jake Ruppert money. When the New York Yankees forbade Joe Di Maggio to play basketball this winter, they took away from him a chunk of dough that Owner Ruppert will have to make up when contract-signing time rolls around, it seems.

MILLS' CAGERS WIN, 35 TO 31

Encountering plenty of difficulty for a half when they fell behind 16-13, Santa Ana's Woolen Mills basketball team annexed another win last night, defeating San Juan Capistrano's Town Team, 35-31, on the losers' court.

Percy Fullerton rang up nine points, and Leonard Lockhart sent eight through the hoop to lead the Woolen Mills. The Millsers hooked up with the U. S. S. Tennessee Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A.

WAR ADMIRAL STILL DOUBTFUL PERFORMER AT SANTA ANITA

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Turf followers, with the lengthy nominating lists already released for the two "big money" races in the coming racing season at Santa Anita, sat back today and awaited the all-important weight assignments for the $100,000 handicap event.

Racing Secretary Webb Everett said the weights—the poundage the bangtalls will be asked to carry in the mile and one-quarter grind next March 5—would be announced late tomorrow.

On the assignments rests, in a measure, the question of whether Samuel Riddle will ship his Kentucky Derby champion War Admiral to Santa Anita for the 1937-38 meeting.

Track officials believe the primary factor in the early Riddle's indecision about sending the Admiral west lies in the ill health of his trainer, George Conway. If Conway can make the trip, the great son of Man O' War may be seen here.

Top weight for the handicap is 130 pounds. War Admiral or Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit may get it. The impost has been assigned but twice in the history of the Santa Anita classic. Equipoise got it the first year and finished out of the money, while Eucuar, at 117, came in to win.

The next year Discovery ranked at the top but failed, and Top Row, packing 116, came in. Top Row, was handed 127 in the last handicap but failed to start, and Rosemont, with 124, beat out Seabiscuit, at 114, in a photo-finish.

Nominations of 111 horses were posted today for the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, to be run Feb. 22 at a mile and one-eighth. One hundred and six horses were nominated for the last derby and 21 started, with William DuPont's Fairy Hill winning.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Tiger, Howard Maxwell's The Chief, DuPont's Dauber, Hal Parr's Legal Light, Vaidina Farr's Teddy's Comet and Bing Crosby's High Strike are considered formidable candidates.

Dons Enlist New Talent Against La Verne

BEATTY FIVE TO PERFORM TONIGHT

Opening fire on their last rival before tackling Long Beach in the first round of Chaffey's Southern California tournament Friday afternoon, Santa Ana Junior college's basketball club takes on La Verne college at 8 o'clock tonight in Tustin's gym.

The reserves of both Dons and La Verne will clash in the curtain-raiser at 7 o'clock. There will be a 25-cent admission charge.

The Dons flashed improvement in losing to the powerful Long Beach Pacific coast clubmen, 46 to 50, last week.

If the Blanchard Beatty's quintet can hit the hoop consistently against La Verne and continue their ball-hawking, they may stand a good chance to take the Long Beach Vikings' measure at Ontario.

Santa Ana's promising array of out-of-state talent will draw the starting assignments. Cy Leivermann, whose pivot shots clicked last week, now holds down the key spot at center for the Dons. His shooting talents can be matched by the two forwards, Charles Hall and Harold (Chuck) Barrett. Ken Marshall and Verne Rutledge, veterans from last year, will start at the guard posts.

Development of two former Anaheim cage stars into first string threats has increased the potency of the Red and Black offensive and defensive. Ted DeVelbiss and Lynn Arnett, forward and guard, with only a week of practicing, are set for duty.

Capt. Don Randall and Del Holan will get early service.

Bob Scott, Bob Fowler, Bob Clark, George Young and Don Rader will be in action in the reserve game.

Earle Meadows and Trojan Co-ed Reveal Marriage

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Earle Meadows, Olympic pole vault champion, and Marguerite Caswell, co-ed sprinter, received belated wedding congratulations from friends at the University of Southern California today.

It was on the eve of the Coast conference meet at the Coliseum last May 29 that the couple made a decision: If Meadows bettered the world record of 14 feet 8½ inches in the pole vault, they would celebrate with a wedding.

Meadows vaulted 1 foot 11 inches. In a few hours he and Miss Caswell took out a license at Yuma, Ariz. But they kept the ceremony secret since both had college work to finish.

They hope to take a honeymoon trip to Tokyo for the 1940 Olympic games.

of his trainer, George Conway. If Conway can make the trip, the great son of Man O' War may be seen here.

Top weight for the handicap is 130 pounds. War Admiral or Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit may get it. The impost has been assigned but twice in the history of the Santa Anita classic. Equipoise got it the first year and finished out of the money, while Eucuar, at 117, came in to win.

The next year Discovery ranked at the top but failed, and Top Row, packing 116, came in. Top Row, was handed 127 in the last handicap but failed to start, and Rosemont, with 124, beat out Seabiscuit, at 114, in a photo-finish.

Nominations of 111 horses were posted today for the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, to be run Feb. 22 at a mile and one-eighth. One hundred and six horses were nominated for the last derby and 21 started, with William DuPont's Fairy Hill winning.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Tiger, Howard Maxwell's The Chief, DuPont's Dauber, Hal Parr's Legal Light, Vaidina Farr's Teddy's Comet and Bing Crosby's High Strike are considered formidable candidates.

Husbands Were Caddies in This Golf

Husbands were caddies—Mrs. Densmore Shute, wife of the professional golfer's king, on her way to victory in the Miami Biltmore Golf Widows tournament at Coral Gables, Fla. This was a prelude to the $10,000 Miami Biltmore Open, Dec. 13. Husbands caddied for the widows, and Denny is in background.

BEARS TO RELY ON STRAIGHT FOOTBALL; CHAPMAN AILING

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Stub Allison, coach of California's Golden Bears, promised today that "we won't monkey with or try a lot of fancy new stuff" in the Rose Bowl football game with Alabama on New Year's day.

"We've gotten along nicely on the theory that any play will work if everybody does his part and we're going to concentrate on getting expert touch on our fundamentals," Allison said.

Practice drills, two a day, will start Friday at Berkeley and continue until Christmas eve. The workouts will resume here Dec. 26 and continue almost until game time, the coach declared.

His only worry right now is the 22 stitches required to close a wound in the left hand of his ace back, Sam Chapman.

The "Old Sergeant" couldn't suppress a shudder as he recalled the recent incident.

"Sam was just sort of leaning back in his chair and somebody asked him to open the window. He gave the window a shove—and just as he did, the chair went from under him and his hand went through the window. Then, because he was falling, the hand dragged across the broken glass and I'm telling you, the boy's hand's a mess."

Gomez of Yankees, Allen of Cleveland Divide Honors

CHICAGO. (AP)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of New York, the fellow they said was "through" a year or so ago, and Johnny Allen of Cleveland divided individual pitching honors during the last American league season, official averages showed today.

The statistics awarded Gomez the junior circuit's earned run leadership. Appearing in 34 games, the Yankee southpaw, who won 21 and lost 11 tilts, allowed only 2.33 runs per contest, the lowest in the league since 1934.

Allen, who won 16 games and lost only one, and who finished the season, compiled the highest won-and-lost percentage in the circuit's history.

Having previously won his last two games of the 1936 season, Allen's brilliant performance gave him a streak of 17 consecutive victories. Jake Wade of Detroit beat him 1 to 0 with a two-hit performance in the last game of the 1937 schedule. Allen's record supplanted that set by Bob Grove, who won 31 and lost 4 for Philadelphia in 1930.

Five years ago—Washington Senators traded pitcher Lloyd Brown and Outfielders Sam West and Carl Reynolds, plus cash, to St. Louis Browns for Pitcher Walter Stewart and Outfielders Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte.

REVOLTA BAGS 282 TO WIN MIAMI OPEN

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—A six-year ambition to win the Miami Open golf championship satisfied, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., banked a $2500 check here today where he scored his first big time golf success.

Back in 1932 Revolta—unheralded in a field of the nation's best money golfers—finished second in the big $10,000 tournament. He has won many a tournament since, including the 1935 P. G. A. championship, but none gave greater satisfaction than yesterday when, standing 20 feet from the cup over the 72nd green, he putted into the cup for a 282 total and first place.

Jimmy Thomson, the Shawnee siege gun, and Dick Metz of Chicago, tied at 283 and split second and third money, each collecting $1125.

Another notch back—at 284 for fourth money of $750—came Sam Snead, the slugger from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who likewise finished with a 73.

Horton Smith of Chicago won fifth money, $650, with a 285. Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., collected $450 each as they tied at the next notch, 287. Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., and Tony Penna of Dayton, O., won $200 each with 288.

Ralph Guldahl, who won the Biltmore Open last year and went on to become National Open champion, finished far down the list at 292 and collected $75. Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion, earned just $25 with a 296.

Revolta and most of the other pros agreed the 14-club rule, enforced in this tournament by agreement, made little or no difference in the scoring. Revolta, in fact, used only 11 of the clubs in his bag yesterday.

Barr's, Ward's Fives Triumph On 'Y' Court

Barr Lumber company's basketball quintet turned in another upset last night, turning back the Church of the Brethren in a close finish, 35 to 33. Montgomery Ward's club took an 22-18 measure of the Southern Counties Gas company in the curtain raiser at the Y. M. C. A.

Ratley, Neel and Prehle hung up 31 points among them in pacing Barr's.

Clarence Pargie hit the hoop for eight points for Ward's. Ward's led 9-6 at the half.

Carnera Suspended, But May Continue Fighting in Italy

ROME. (AP)—The Italian Pugilistic Federation today suspended the former world heavyweight champion, Primo Carnera, from further fights abroad because of his recent showings.

Carnera, the spokesman explained, showed himself fallen so far from his championship days that Italian prestige demanded his retirement.

KATY RAWLS HONORED

NEW YORK. (AP)—Katherine (Kitty) Rawls, diminutive Florida swimming queen who captured six national titles this year, achieved the added distinction today of being rated the No. 1 athlete of the year among feminine competitors in the seventh annual Associated Press sports poll.

The 18-year-old aquatic star won the closest voting contest in the history of the poll, participated in by the nation's leading sports writers. Only one point separated Miss Rawls from her two closest rivals, Anita Lizana of Chile, the new holder of the United States tennis title, and Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the national golf champion.

Miss Rawls led in first place votes, with 11, to Miss Lizana's 10 and Mrs. Page's eight. Tabulation of points, on a 3-2-1 basis as each expert rated three women performers in the order of preference, gave Miss Rawls the No. 1 honors, with 53. Miss Lizana and Mrs. Page had 52 points each. Although this trio dominated the balloting, the 44 participating experts gave mention to the performances of 21 feminine headlines, including Sonja Henie, Babe Didrikson, and Eleanor Holm Jarrett. Miss Didrikson, now concentrating on professional golf, was winner of the 1932 poll.

MANFREDO AND ZORRITA MIX

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Two 145-pound sharpshooters, Al Manfredo of Fresno and Leon Zorrita, slim Los Angeles negro, trade blows tonight in a 10-round main event at the Olympic auditorium.

Manfredo, on his recent good showings against welterweight champion Barney Ross, was generally accorded an edge. In his last fight, Zorrita jabbed out a decision over Pete De Razzo, rugged New Yorker.

Moxie Flashes Old-Time Form

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK. (AP)—Joe Louis, the cocoa-colored champion, is not a man easily impressed.

He sat dead-panned in Madison Square Garden last night while Max Schmeling knocked Harry Thomas daffy as a dervish in eight rounds, and all Joe had to say was: "If I can't whip that Schmeling the next time, I don't ever want to see another pair of boxing gloves."

Joe might have been whistling in the dark. Schmeling, to the lay eye, had looked like a truly great fighter as he toyed with Thomas in the early rounds and then methodically chopped him to the canvas with lightning rights. But Louis sounded exactly like he meant it.

LOUIS' MANAGER HAPPY
So did his dusky manager, old Jack Blackburn: "All I hope is that nothin' happens to that date we got with Schmeling next June," he said happily in the lobby.

Nothing, apparently is going to happen to that date. More than 16,000 customers jostled their way into the Garden last night, ignoring the exhortations of the anti-Nazi pickets who paraded before the doors.

Most of them seemed to be there to cheer Schmeling. The ovation given the ex-champion as he entered the ring brought a broad smile to his face that departed only fleetingly as he worked on Thomas.

While beaten by a much superior fighter, Thomas was far from disgraced. He hit the canvas for the sixth time in the eighth round before Referee Arthur Donovan escorted him, rubber-legged, to his corner. He didn't know a thing by that time, but he still wanted to battle.

MAX SCHMELING

The long 18-month layoff since he stopped Louis a year ago last summer appeared not to have affected Schmeling's timing or his lethal power of his right, once he got himself unlimbered. He let his wild-swinging opponent carry the fight to him and bided his time. Thomas, in fact, connected sufficiently to win three of the first rounds.

It wasn't until the sixth that Max, moving around easily, unheralded, began cracking Harry on his whiskers. He said afterward that he had found the Eagle Bend, Minn., product harder to tag with a right than he did Louis. But once he got the range it was all over.

DOWN IN SEVENTH
Just before the seventh round ended, Thomas went down, hard, the bell clanging aimed at his forehead. His mouth had been bleeding since the second round, when one of Max's lefts had driven a tooth almost through his under lip. In the eighth Schmeling really went to work, and Thomas was bouncing up and down like a rubber ball until Donovan made the German desist.

There wasn't any doubt in Thomas' mind, once it cleared, that he had run into a stinger. In his humble opinion, he said, Schmeling will stop Louis' clock again the next time they meet, and quicker than the other time. Thomas hadn't been down before in his four-year ring career, and Schmeling's right surprised him considerably. It being the first such experience, he didn't know enough to take a count.

Max Schmeling won't go into a fight in this country unless Doc Casey of Detroit is in his corner. "The Doc is one of the best seconds in the biz . . . Lloyd Lewis, sports editor of the Chicago Daily News, conducts a course of lectures at the U. of Chicago on the Civil war . . . Roy Shutt, of the Troy (N. Y.) ORDER HUGE FLYING SHIPS

NEW YORK. (AP)—Looking at least three years into the future, Pan-American Airways has asked eight aircraft manufacturers to submit bids for a fleet of huge transports capable of flying "at least 100 passengers" from New York to almost any capital of Europe.

Requests for the liners of revolutionary size—likely to be twice the tonnage of the 85,000-pound flying boats now under construction for the trans-Atlantic service—were made in letters sent to the manufacturers yesterday.

The bids were returnable to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, chairman of Pan-American's technical committee, who emerged from retirement in England last Sunday to direct final conferences here before the air line's plans were made public.

Anaheim Publisher New Prison Head

Succeeding Mrs. Rose B. Wallace, Lotus H. Loudon, Anaheim publisher, yesterday was elected chairman of the directors of the California women's prison at Tehachapi.

Loudon is the second local man to hold a director's position at the prison. J. F. Burke, former Santa Ana publisher, once acted in that capacity.

Mrs. Anna G. Lav of Oakland was named vice chairman. Other directors are Mel T. Brittan of Bakersfield and Mrs. Florence W. Gillis of Fresno.

INSANE PAY FOR PARTIES

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A disclosure that mental patients at the Jacksonville state hospital had financed drinking parties for attendants prompted an investigation by state officials.

Twelve attendants were discharged. Eleven others, accused of borrowing money from patients and, in some cases, refused to repay loans, were suspended for 15 days.

Inmates who said they lent money to attendants complained that when they asked for repayment they were told the loans were merely figments of disordered minds.

CORRESPONDENT TO TALK ON CHINA WAR

BACKGROUND
OF CONFLICT
DETAILEDNewspaper Man Is Forum Speaker

With four American ships and an unknown number of American lives lost in the bombing by Japanese airmen near Nanking, Sunday, American interest is more than ever centered in the Sino-Japanese conflict in China. Therefore, sponsors of the citizenry, which met tonight at the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush, at 7:45, expect a record crowd to hear Don Cook, newspaper correspondent, in his talk, "Behind the Scenes in the Orient." Cook returned to Santa Ana a few months ago, after having covered the previous undeclared wars between the Chinese and Japanese in Manchuria, Shanghai, Jehol, Hopei, Shensi and other parts of China, for a worldwide press service.

With 18 years of newspaper experience, covering stories of world interest in the United States, Europe, South America, Mexico and Asia, Cook has become well acquainted with the reasons for wars and rumors of wars. During this period he has studied the economic and political conditions which form the background of present worldwide unrest.

In his talk tonight Cook will devote his discussion to the people and their life in order to give forum listeners a more thorough understanding of the present conflict.

Beginning his career on the Fort Worth Star Telegram and the Wichita Daily Times in Texas, Cook has served on representative American newspapers such as the San Francisco Chronicle, Los Angeles Examiner, San Diego Sun, Toledo News-Bee, New York Evening Journal, New York World-Telegram, and two of the great press associations, the United Press and the International News Service. Foreign newspaper work which he has written for, among others, London Daily News, Calcutta Statesman and the Shanghai Times.

He will be introduced by J. H. Stewart, well-known Orange county citrus grower and a member of the committee, who has a more than passing interest in the present Chinese struggle. In 1901, after returning from active army service in the Philippines, he joined with fellow liberals in organizing aid for Chinese patriots. It was during the years of the Chinese struggle for freedom from the ancient Manchu rulers, which led to the establishment of the Chinese republic under Dr. Sun Yat Sen, whose sister-in-law, Mei Ling Soong, is now the wife of Generalissimo Chang Kai-Shek.

I JUST FOUND OUT—
Travel Customers
Lax on Geography

By MILLARD BROWNE

Geography is one subject about which most people are relatively uninformed, and even prospective travelers have only vague ideas about where their destination is and how you get there.

That observation comes from H. Louis Hansen, who operates one of Santa Ana's two regular travel bureaus at 306 North Main street. The other is maintained at Commercial National bank by Mrs. Julia Hyde.

"Do we go through the Panama canal to get to Hawaii?" is the most startling question that's been sprung on Hansen. But there are others like it. Many people, for instance, know that China, Japan and Australia are across the Pacific, but they're inclined to bunch them together as one general location. Others are astounded to know that a round trip to Buenos Aires, Argentina, is half as far as a trip around the world.

The exact location of eastern ports is a mystery to many local travelers. Bermuda is most frequently misplaced, with many people mentally placing it down around Jamaica instead of directly east of Virginia and the Carolinas.

Another common misunderstanding: You don't stop at New Orleans en route to New York. If you want to visit New Orleans, you get off at Havana, Cuba, and take a 1200-mile side trip.

Nearly a dozen Orange county persons sail on ocean liners every week, and about three-fourths of them are land-lubbers who've never been on a sea voyage before.

Hawaii is most popular year-around destination, though Alaska is a close second in the summer. Other favorite trips for Orange county travelers: New York via Panama; Europe and 'round-the-world.

Most travelers are more worried about what to wear and how to combat seasickness than they are about how far away their destination is or what boat they're going on. Most popular ship among people who pay any attention, however, is Matson's Lurline, probably because it is new, nice-looking and has a pretty name.

More than half of a travel bureau's calls are from people who have no intention of going anywhere. About 25 travel folders a day are handed out, in fact, and most go to school kids who are making a notebook on some country, or to people who just wish they could take a trip.

Many prospective travelers aren't particular where they go. They save up so much money, they go shopping and find out what kind of a cruise they can buy with it. They're usually astonished to hear they could go around the world on $500.

Most world-circling bookings for Orange county people are on tramp steamers, and are economical. Total cost of traveling this way is about $3.50 a day, and it takes two or three months to go around the world with no extra stopovers.

There are several foreign-born Orange county residents who go back to the old country every two or three years, and about half of the European voyages from here are taken by those who once lived there. Biggest party booked in recent history: a family of 11 people.

Travel agencies are in the immigration as well as the booking business in Santa Ana. They get around 50 affidavits a year from relatives here that they can support wives, children or parents from the old country, then arrange passage for these immigrants. Travel agencies also arrange details of passports.

Biggest trouble in arranging passports is straightening out of tangled birth certificates. One prospective traveler, for example, was born in a house exactly on the border line between two countries, wasn't registered in either country. Many middle-aged persons never had birth certificates and can't find an older relative to swear they were born. The government, it seems, won't take their word for it.

Travel agencies here average one call a night from people who want a fast trip home to someone who's dying. Agencies will guarantee to get them to any place in the United States in 24 hours—if they're willing to pay for it.

Attendants at travel agencies have to be a combined human atlas and encyclopedia to answer the ordinary run of questions. They are bonded to make bookings for 300 steamship lines, 50 airlines and every American busline.

Travel business is about the most seasonal there is, though the popular season for ocean voyages is later than most people think. Most bookings for long trips are in August and September, though May and June are best months for short journeys.

Shortest ocean voyage for which local agencies take bookings are to Catalina; these also are most popular for Orange county residents. 200 having made the trip last summer.

Strikes, wars and depression are most feared phenomena

NOTED MEN
ASK BOYCOTT
ON JAPAN

NEW YORK. (AP)—John Dewey, philosopher and Columbia university professor, and three other noted world figures, Romain Rolland, the novelist; Prof. Albert Einstein, the physicist, and Bertrand Russell, British sociologist, today proposed a boycott of Japanese goods.

"In view of the wanton destruction of Oriental civilization and for the sake of humanity, peace and democracy," said a statement issued by the four, "we propose that the peoples of all countries organize voluntary boycott against Japanese goods, refuse to sell and load war materials to Japan, and cease cooperation with Japan in ways that help her aggressive policy, while giving every possible assistance to China for relief and self-defense until Japan has evacuated all her forces from China and abandoned her policy of conquest."

"El Don" Gets
First National Ad

El Don, Santa Ana Junior college's weekly newspaper, has broken a 14-year precedent!

After 14 years of publication, the paper last Friday printed the first national advertisement. The ad was for the General Motors corporation and was solicited through National Advertising Service, Incorporated. Peter Arno, a national syndicated cartoonist, drew the illustration for the ad.

among travel agents, because each of these practically kill ocean travel. During last year's maritime strike, hardly a ticket was sold in more than three months. The present Asiatic war is even hurting business to Hawaii.

Glamor, as exploited by movies, is cited as a major reason why cruises to the South Seas have leaped into popularity. Another sudden trend for Orange county persons is the number who are heading to Hawaii on one-way tickets. Numerous life savers and other youths who hung around the county's beaches last summer have packed up and headed for Honolulu to get jobs.

Superstition is common among voyagers, and Santa Anans have cancelled their reservations if they find they've been given berth or seat No. 13. One woman found she had the last booking on a boat, so she canceled and went to New York by bus. Most air lines skip seat No. 13 entirely.

Cheap travel is booming these days—mostly because major steamship lines have improved accommodations for second and third class passengers. Tourist class is the big trend on the Pacific, and people are flocking to third class on the Atlantic ocean.

SERVICE CLUBS

XMAS PARTY

Children at the Logan Grammar school will be given a Santa Claus Christmas party Friday, Dec. 17, when gifts donated by women's service clubs of Santa Ana Junior college will be distributed.

Miss Marian Hawk, former jaycee student and present teacher at Logan school, is in charge of preparations for the Christmas party.

Each pupil will receive an individual wrapped gift, suitable as to age, and bearing his or her name. Calvin C. Flint, dean of men, stated.

College service clubs are cooperating in the benefit and providing necessary presents and refreshments, Flint said.

Women's service clubs donating articles include Spinners, headed by La Vonne Frandson; Las Meninas, Billie Johnson; Las Glitanas, Betty West, and Piloteers, Nina June Robertson.

Moats, led by Evelyn Richards, will furnish food and gifts for a needy family at their benefit project.

SANTA WHITE FOX
by SIGRID ARNE

"WAIT A MINUTE." EVERYBODY SHOUTED.

The story so far: The sailor, doll's magic sea shell has told him to seek an earthworm for help in finding the acorn he must get for the squirrel that is getting bigger every minute.

Chapter 14

SHRINKING

You remember the worm was keeping an acorn for the Woods Fairy and the sailor wanted it because it was a magic acorn that would shrink the squirrel who had grown big as a bear.

After the sailor and the earthworm had talked for some time, the sailor said, "I understand you make some very fine underground tunnels."

"Well, some say I do," said the earthworm. "Would you like to see them?"

"Have you any big enough for me?" asked the sailor.

"Yes, some of the older ones have been used so much they've become quite big," said the worm.

"Follow me."

He slid out of his home in the fir tree and down into the ground, the sailor following.

And that's when the sailor played a trick.

BIGGER AND BIGGER

As the earthworm slid through his twisting tunnels ahead of the sailor, the sailor just stuck his head into the entrance and kept talking. The farther the worm went the louder the sailor talked so the worm thought he was following right behind. When the worm was out of sight the sailor dashed into the fir tree, snatched the acorn and ran back to the village of squirrels.

When he arrived he found the big squirrel still growing bigger, and his papa and mama and aunts and uncles and cousins were all sitting around watching him. By that time the squirrel was as big as an elephant.

"Very warm weather," he said to the sailor.

"Not at all," said the sailor. "I've told you once before it looks like snow. Eat that acorn."

"I don't think so," said the squirrel. "Couldn't you make it a berry?"

SMALLER AND SMALLER

"Well," thought the sailor, "he gets bigger and sillier." Quietly, the sailor slipped out and found a big branch of berries to which he tied the acorn that would shrink the huge squirrel. Then he said to the squirrel:

"If you won't eat my acorn, will you eat these berries?"

"Certainly," said the squirrel. So he gulped down the branch, acorn and all. Suddenly he stopped growing. He shrank to the size of a horse. Then he was the size of a little, cinnamon bear. Then he was the size of a dog, then a kitten, then a tiny mouse.

"Wait a minute," shouted everybody. "You're going too far."

But before anyone could say any more that squirrel was only the size of a house-fly. He looked very sad.

Tomorrow: Off again.

SIX GIRLS PRESENT PIANO RECITAL

Six talented young artists presented a musicale Saturday evening in Miss Arline Birchard's studio, the second in a series of recitals, with a full attendance of parents and friends, despite the rain storm.

The two studio rooms were decorated with holly and coteaster, and a lighted Christmas tree. The entire program was presented by memory, and little Miss Joanne Hockaday, voice pupil of Holy Lash Visel, presented some special selections accompanied by Miss Birchard. She sang "Birthdays of a King" by Neidlinger.

Star of the program was Beatrice Bumbaugh, Anaheim High school girl who is nearing her 16th birthday. She played a number of difficult selections by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Grieg, Wallehaupt, and Liszt. With her sister, Marilyn Bumbaugh, a talented 10-year-old, she presented several lovely piano duets.

Joanne Hockaday, a Willard Junior High school miss, played two groups of numbers. Completing the recital were Margaret Lockett, a 12-year-old Willard Junior High school student, who played selections by Massenet and Newland, concluding with "Goodnight" by Nevin; and Verna Belle Maroney from Santa Ana High school who offered "The Voice of the Christ Child," a Christmas reading by Phillips Brooks.

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These are in addition to the Mutual Network features over KVOE commented on above in Tom E. Danson's column.

Remember The Journal broadcasts: News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30, 4:30, 6:30 p. m.; Chat hour, 11:30, 11:35 a. m.

Forensics will enter KVOE's schedule tomorrow at 12 noon, with a debate between Harvard University and the University of Melbourne, to continue until 1 o'clock. In consequence, the KVOE - Journal news broadcast will be made at 1 o'clock and "Cecil & Sally," regularly scheduled at 12 noon, will be heard at 2:15 tomorrow only.

The debate also will affect the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association broadcast, heard regularly on Wednesdays at 12:15 p. m. Tomorrow, the address by Bill Fernandez is scheduled at 11:30 in the morning. His topic is "World-Wide Christmas Seal."

Governors Stark of Missouri, Hoffman of New Jersey and Horner of Illinois will be among those participating in the broadcast of this testimonial banquet which will be given for Joe Medwick, star outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals tonight at the Hotel Jefferson in St. Louis.

KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system will relay the ceremonies of the occasion on a program that will continue to coast listeners from 7:30 until 8 o'clock.

The purpose of the banquet is to present Medwick with the National league's "Most Valuable Player of 1937 Award." Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Landis and Ford Frick, president of the National league, will be on hand to present Medwick with his well-earned reward.

Because of this special broadcast, "Witches Tales," serial thriller usually heard at this hour, will be cancelled for this one time only.

The tragedy of a son who worked his way through a college endowed by his father; of pledges and dates he had to turn down because of "Loretta" and of the inspiration to the father of another boy to take precautions in avoiding such circumstances will be dramatized in tonight's broadcast of "Money Talks" exclusively from KVOE at 9:15, the last of this present series of true-to-fact dramatizations. Music by Nathan Croal's orchestra will feature "Hungarian Dance No. 1," Brahms, and "Waltz" from "String Serenade" by Tschaiikovsky.

Harry Savoy, popular emcee who has gained great favor with the Eastern radio audiences for whom he has entertained recently, will join the cast of Ed Lowry's "Singtime" program, when the show comes to KVOE dialers tonight at 7 o'clock. Savoy will replace Elaine Arden, who has left for the East to fulfill radio commitments.

Ed Lowry will employ his magic little gadget, the "Gobackus," which will enable listeners to get a good idea of what a real, old-fashioned Christmas used to be. Another sequence of the fun show will reveal the embarrassing situations in which people will find themselves when television rounds that corner and really gets into swing.

Ray Heatherton owes his start in radio to Paul Whitman, who signed Ray as soloist the first time he heard the youthful baritone. Now Ray's guest star on tonight's Musical Moments Revue with Miss Willie Morris, the Songsmiths, Victor Arden's orchestra and Graham McNamee, on KVOE at 8:45.

Stanley Smith, popular radio master of ceremonies and motion picture leading man, will take over as emcee of the KVOE-Don Lee weekly "Twistlers" program, beginning tonight, when the show will be aired from 8 to 8:30.

Smith will conduct the musical puzzle contests in which members of the studio and listening audience will endeavor to discover old favorite musical numbers concealed within the arrangement of a currently popular tune.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

THE BOOMERANG . . . In Australia today there lives a strange people—the aboriginal bushmen—who literally “forgot to grow up.” Strange as it seems, these men from the past live in exactly the same manner as did their ancestors 10,000 years ago! A nomadic people who still use implements of the Stone Age, the bushmen have paradoxically introduced to modern civilization a weapon which has never been duplicated—the boomerang. No machine gun can simulate their primitive manufacturing process and no modern mechanic would attempt the tireless trial-and-error method the aborigines employ to make a perfect boomerang.

Although the word, boomerang, has come to mean “something which returns,” the returning boomerang of Australia is used chiefly for amusement. Most boomerangs are designed to travel in a straight line or to perform some amazing aerial gymnastic and bring down a bird.

Loose Thinking About Japan

With the American gunboat Panay at the bottom of the Yantze river following a Japanese bombing, the average American citizen is holding diplomatic court.

That is to say, he is declaring his very positive opinion on what should be, he thinks, America's attitude toward the Japanese.

"We ought to go after Japan right now," one said to us very emphatically. "They're pretty dirty toward the United States, sinking our gunboats, taking away our customs and everything. If we don't slap them down now, we're going to have to do it 10 years hence, when they're a lot stronger than they are now."

Now the average citizen, we'll submit is quite as much entitled to hold positive views as an editor—and perhaps more so.

And this little discourse is worth printing here because it is so typical of a certain brand of thoughtlessness that is adopted by all too many individuals in time of stress.

His idea is just a stray notion of unknown origin but which, in being passed from one careless handler to another, becomes finally dangerous.

The fact is that there is no reason whatsoever for the United States to think in terms of war with Japan right now. And, if we use our civilized intelligence and decent, unselfish motives, there will be no reason for war—thinking 10 years from now—or 50 or 100.

When we leave our gunboats in the war zone amid a hail of shells and bombs, we would be stupid indeed to expect that they would come through unscathed.

Japan, and possibly China, too, might destroy a lot more American lives and property before their strife is over.

Every American, however, has had ample warning to get out of the war area before a piece of stray or misdirected hardware hits with fatal results. Those who stay do so at their own risk.

As for compensation for the damage suffered in unfortunate incidents such as the sinking of the Panay, that is another matter. The United States has a right to expect it.

But as to war with Japan—loose thinking and talking like that quoted at the start of this editorial may sound brave, but actually it provides the greatest danger to American peace.

Wonder when, if ever, Sheriff Jackson is going to answer our question about the $15,000 to $20,000 in fees he is said to be getting each year?

Keep Violence Out of It

If the newly formed Citizens Association of Orange county had deliberately set out to win the goodwill of the general public, it could not have found a better way, in our opinion, than that advanced in its statement to The Journal yesterday.

Here's why:

1. The association reports it stopped a few hothead would-be vigilantes from a violent attack on union organizers in reprisal for the beating of Willard Lake, local independent truckman, by asserted "beef" thugs.

2. The association decried the use of force in labor squabbles and promised to exert its intelligence to find a "better way."

Truth of the whole thing is that the general public is becoming thoroughly tired of some of the senseless actions of a few radicals and racketeers who have muscled in on the labor movement.

The Willard Lake beating is one example.

The brutal and cruel hospital strike at Peoria, Ill., is another. In this strike, because some carpenters were in a labor dispute, the maintenance helpers walked out, leaving the building unstaffed as 2300 patients shivered with cold in the dead of winter.

Such instances are senseless blows at the whole labor movement, damaging the cause of millions of right-thinking workers who would never take part in, or approve, such actions.

Such instances tear down the work of years by honest and sincere friends of labor, and show the tremendous harm that can be accomplished by a few radicals and racketeers.

If the association follows its course of determined opposition to "beef" violence through the use of legal and peaceable means only, it will do much to lessen the ill effects of labor strife in this community.

A U. S. engineer from Stalinland says the Russians have improved all machines, but their shovels won't lift anything. Darn clever, those Muscovites.

Attention, Editor Hoiles

President W. O. Mendenhall of Whittier college recently announced that his institution would abandon the use of textbooks.

"We plan to use mechanical and scientific aids to learning," he said.

His intention is to employ sound and silent motion picture films and other audio-visual aids.

Does this mean that 50 or 100 years from now there will be no textbooks (not even Rugg) used in the schools and colleges of the world?

Is this the beginning of the end of the world of books? And if it is, which will be the hardest for an enemy of the schools to do—sharpshoot a movie film or put the bee on an audio-visual aid?

A factory in Arcadia, Calif., is going to manufacture asbestos coffins. Not a bad idea—in some cases.

FAIR Enough

Millionaire Labor Leader To Sue U. S.

By Westbrook Pegler

Senator George L. Berry, the millionaire labor leader, and some business associates have gone to law against the government in Knoxville, Tenn., over the value of some marble deposits in land which was flooded by the lake created behind the Norris dam. The lawyer for the TVA made a remark in the hearing which had all the earmarks of a nasty crack when he said that the millionaire labor leader's leases had no value except in a condemnation case.

The rich president of the pressmen's union met this low imputation with the reply that at the time he obtained his interest he did not know the land was to be flooded. It did not occur to the wealthy the lease and if the government should flood the country a condemnation proceeding might have the effect of compelling the government to purchase something which might not find a sale in a hundred or a thousand years.

It is easy to imagine the rich labor-statesman's indignation and alarm when he did learn that the dam would pile water on his property and thus make it impossible for him to get out his marble in case the market for statues and marble halls should boom again sometime.

TOOK HIS MARBLE
A real man gets no kick out of making money through court proceedings, and Senator Berry undoubtedly would have preferred to mine the marble and ship it at a legitimate profit of so much per foot, which is the hard way, to be sure, but the best way after all.

Now, even if he does get the amount which he claims from the government, he will still lose the pleasure and satisfaction of working the quarries, and although he has made no itemized claim for this loss there are undoubtedly those who believe he is entitled to compensation. After all, things have come to a pretty bad state when the government cannot only rob a man of his marble on the ground that it was of doubtful use to him, anyway, but then rob him of one of the finer things in life, the joy of enterprise and toil. Maybe congress could pass one of those personal compensation bills and make it up to Senator Berry.

It was none of the government's business, either, whether the rich labor leader could have sold his marble. If a man just happens to be a marble lover and wants to keep a large amount of marble for the having of it, isn't that his right?

Of course, there is a certain type of man who would do the very thing that the millionaire undertakes. There is a type of man who, if he had got word of the dam project, would have figured out that the water was going to cover certain areas of marble mountain and would have gone around quietly buying up leases from the owners with the secret intention of suing the government. Such a man might have made a show of mining the marble before the rise of the flood so as to convince a court that it was his intention to operate quarries.

ON THE INSIDE

This sort of thing is constantly being encountered in the operations of the government, not only national but state and city. A politician on the inside hears that the city wants to build a park or highway or something in a certain area and goes around buying property from owners who think they have found a sucker. Then pretty soon out comes the city's plan to do so-and-so in that area, and lo! and behold! who is the heaviest property holder in the path of the project? Improvement but a man who had spent to be a brother-in-law of a man in the city council who knew which way the improvement was going before it was announced.

For that sort of man all good citizens have the deepest contempt, and it does the heart good to hear the rich labor leader who represents Tennessee in the senate declare that he doesn't have to sue the government to make a living. That is true, because he made a living long before he brought this claim against the TVA he made more than a living. He has made a fortune without suing the government, and if the marble had not been covered by the flood behind Norris dam he could have been his own customer for the makings of some marble halls for dwelling purposes.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES

A lecturer had been invited to address the Sunday school, although he was more accustomed to older pupils or church congregations. He was momentarily at a loss what to say to the eager young faces, and asked: "Now children, what shall I talk about tonight?" "About three minutes," said a little boy.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

Over in France you would naturally expect to see the menus written in French but I never did see any sense of going in an American restaurant and havin' to wade through a lot of French to get roast beef, ham and eggs, or cabbage. I suppose some people just naturally think that "French" gives a place a toney atmosphere.

I had an uncle that had a sign on his dining room wall that said "Id on parle francais." For 20 years my uncle had been waitin' for everybody to get seated at the table—then he would point up to this sign and say grace. Finally one day a stranger had dinner there and he looked up at the sign and said "I see you people speak French here." My uncle said "No, we don't." The fella said "Well, what do you mean by havin' that sign up there? It says 'French speak here' here'."

My uncle says "Why, that darn swindler! You know 20 years ago a young fella came through here and he sold me that sign for 'Heaven Bless Our Home'." (Copyright, 1937.)

RECOGNITION

A certain famous film star visited the Highlands and stopped for refreshment at a farmhouse. She was given some milk in a little bowl and while she was drinking it a pig trotted up to her. "See," she explained, delighted, "even the little peeg he recognizes me." "It's no 'you he recognizes," said the farm-wife, "it's his wee bowlie."—Edinburgh Dispatch.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Below is the third of a series of articles on housing, this installment dealing with the Federal Housing Administration which promotes individual home construction, as differentiated from the U. S. Housing authority which promotes mass low-cost housing or slum clearance.—Editor's note.)

Conduct of FHA shows how home-owners get interest charges hiked; flat 5 per cent ordered by Roosevelt now amounts in general to about 7 per cent; $5,000,000 profit offered to pay FHA expense, not for dividends; bank lost nothing in case of graft where U. S. guaranteed loans.

WASHINGTON.—In 1934 when Jimmy Moffett, first federal housing administrator, went to the White House with Stewart McDonald, present administrator, to chart the course of the housing program, the President laid down the rule that he wanted mortgages issued at the flat interest rate of 5 per cent.

This was a most important innovation and looked like a real break for the home-builder.

But apparently it was too much of an innovation for Moffett and McDonald, for they went back to their offices and promptly hoisted the rate so that it amounts now in the long run to about 7 per cent.

This they did through the subtle wizardry of adding ½ of 1 per cent as a service charge by the banks, then another ½ of 1 per cent as an insurance charge by the FHA.

The charges do not decrease as the loan is paid off. Thus if a home-owner has borrowed $5000 at the end of 20 years has paid off all but $500, he still pays service charges and insurance not on the $500, but on the $5000. This is the same scheme practiced by installment finance companies and brings the actual interest rate up.

EXPENSIVE FUND

When Jimmy Moffett appeared before the banking and currency committee in 1935, there was some objection to such practice. He explained, however, that the FHA service charge is paid into the "Mutual Mortgage Insurance Funds" from which the home-owner would receive dividends.

"Any benefits accrue to the home owner," Moffett told the committee, "whether we charge him ½ of 1 per cent or 1 per cent. . . . On a twenty year mortgage it ought to pay out in about 17 years, and the accrual in the insurance fund would apply to the reduction of the principal."

After McDonald succeeded Moffett, he informed the President that FHA was doing so well that it would contribute $5,000,000 toward its administrative budget previously voted by congress, thus help the President balance his budget. But this $5,000,000 was to be taken out of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance fund, which Mr. Moffett previously said was to accrue to the benefit of the home-owner.

Housing officials claim that premium receipts have been coming in so abundantly that they can still dip into the mutual mortgage fund for administrative expenses and at the same time carry out Moffett's promise of paying off in 17 rather than 20 years.

This, however, remains to be seen and if FHA continues to be as topheavy as at present, it will take a lot of dipping into the mutual mortgage fund to keep it going.

LA GUARDIA IN 1940?
Fiorello La Guardia by his recent victory joins President Roosevelt and Senator La Follette as one of the three major national figures looking toward 1940. He has been spoken of as a possible nominee of a third party labor ticket, but political logic points much more directly to the Republican nomination.

It is true that he is anathema to the conservative Republicans, and that it took astute Kenneth Simpson's best strategy to get him accepted by the Republican clubhouse boys. But it is not they who decide the Republican national slate; it is the groups that are powerful in industry and finance. And the outstanding organ of these groups—the New York Herald Tribune—has been fervent in its support of him.

It is true that he is of mixed Italian and Jewish blood. Ordinarily, this would eliminate him from the picture at once. But these are not ordinary times, and 1940 may well present a picture of party confusion which would make even La Guardia eligible. —The Nation.

REVAMPING NEEDED

Whatever San Francisco voters think of Roosevelt and the New Deal, they apparently think even less of the Republican party.

Remarkable is the report published elsewhere in this paper today that since Jan. 1 Democratic registrations have exceeded Republican by almost four to one. The figures are 12,506 Democrats, 3448 Republicans.

No partisan issue was before San Francisco voters this year. Presumably most of these 16,000 voters were newcomers or persons who had failed to vote at the 1936 presidential election and wished to qualify for the municipal election. Probably national parties were uppermost in their minds. But their decided preference for the party of Roosevelt is impressive.

It looks as though the governor of Vermont is right when he warns his party that it needs a thorough revamping, new leadership and a program.—San Francisco News.

POSTPONE IT!

A movement is afoot, led by a butchers' trade party and backed by Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York. It has the name of the national symbol in place of the eagle.

"The eagle," argues the paper, "is a bird of prey, swooping down on his victims. That is not representative of the American spirit."

"The turkey, on the other hand, is a bird whose history is blended with that of the American people from the days of the Pilgrim Fathers. It is a peaceful bird, but handsome and majestic." There's a good pro-turkey case here, although we noticed that even if that bird of birds doesn't swoop he is inclined to strut. The biggest objection comes from The New Yorker, which asks whether it mightn't be considered seditious to eat the national bird.

Let's stick to the eagle. It would be terrible if we had to stand up and sing on Thanksgiving and Christmas, instead of sitting down and eating.—San Diego Sun.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD B. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK.—Here is a question to stump the professors when they call at a canyon.

How can a canyon be dug by erosion at the bottom of the sea? Scores of ocean bottom canyons have been measured and are as deep as any on earth's surface.

The answer that the canyons were dug by erosion at a long ago period when the ocean bottom was above water is out of date.

A real answer has been figured out over in Leyden, Holland, by Ph. H. Kunen and at Harvard by Professor Daly. The Harvard geologist said that as rivers discharged to the oceans, carrying mud, this dirt did not always settle straight to the bottom.

When the "edge" of the ocean is steep he said the dirt would combine with the water to form a heavy liquid, that would flow downhill, like a stream, separate from the rest of the ocean water. It would scour out a canyon, perhaps.

In Leyden this was tested in tanks. In clear water, muddy mixtures flowed down hill as Professor Daly predicted. They speeded up until they flowed two or three times faster than when they started. They got six times as heavy, due to mud, as the surrounding, still water.

DAY BY DAY
With O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—The defenders of Broadway, so shockingly depopulated by the Hollywood heira, insist that those who have made the trek soon tire of the sunshine, the Spanish palazzo and mosaic-lined swimming pool. And in a short time are sighing for Times Square.

Yet when Sidney Skolsky, a confirmed Broadwayite, was reassigned to the street after four years in Hollywood by his paper, he chuckled his job with the ringing accolade: "Broadway is dead!" While it may not be completely moribund, it is absurd to claim the old time lure.

Only a skeleton of the legitimate theater is left for the dance Macabre. It takes a top notch stage star to make $1000 a week—a stipend that would receive the merry ha ha across the Mojave. Too, on the coast they are soon converted to the pleasures of simplicity, early up, early to bed.

It is true some of the old timers develop a nostalgia for former scenes and they come back, lounge about the Lambs, stroll along a Broadway that has become largely monkey-tonk, and in a few days are quite ready to hit the old Santa Fe trail again.

Corey Ford's correspondence letterheads at his retreat near Freedom, New Hampshire, where he turns out his corking stories, are gotten up in the manner of the Ozark county store. They are weighty with such homely trade boosting axioms as: "A Ford writ story is a good writ story. Get your writings off Ford." And: "All kinds of writing done quick and neat." Across the bottom is strung this: "Rabbit hounds, bird dogs, guns, cameras, fishing tackle, bot, sold and swopped." Ford's roommate and companion during his New York days is also a Richard Canfield, Honest John Kelley and the like. The only notorious gambler I ever met was Arnold Rothstein, who, pistol in a New York hotel, refused to name his assassins. He had written a courteous note about something in my column and suggested I drop in to see him in his neighborhood. His stationery read "Insurance Broker." I had, of course, seen him around, a fellow with fever-bright eyes in a face the sickly shade of a flounder's belly. In restaurants he always dined at a seat with back to wall and invariably traveled with his bodyguard. I never got around to calling, but one evening in a drug store off Times Square a mutual friend introduced me to him. He was soft-spoken, quite shy and with a few exchanges of monosyllabic talk seemed anxious to hurry on. In restaurants afterward when I was there he would frequently send over a note to suggest a complimentary bottle of wine. But never, wherever we were, did he offer to speak, and if I caught his eye he would look quickly away.

Most of the romanzas about the sleek and dapper Nick the Greek have the Paul Bunyan genesis. Reputedly a wizard of wine, he is often rumored to arrive in town and risk $100,000 on a single throw. Also frequently rated as worth $500,000 one day and making a quick touch for fare to Philadelphia the next. Yet a gambling fellow tells me he has one of the showy players and rarely loses or wins more than $500, but the impression is etched that he is a reckless plunger.

Experts in reactions to gambling say Flo Ziegfeld could win or lose a huge amount with less emotional reaction than anyone who enjoyed betting as a diversion. Win or lose, there was not a flicker of change in his facial expression. He used to play in the highest stake poker game in town, one indulged by a select coterie of millionaires at an upper avenue hotel. He was desperate one night the funds to launch a current follies, and when the last hand was played at 3 a. m. he lost $50,000. Later he went sound asleep driving to his hotel, nine blocks away.

I sympathize with mumbler along the highway. Give me a desolated block at a dark night and I'll probably talk out loud.

Tonight a mumbler ahead was saying: "I'm not so handsome, but I'm as purty as the mug she married." That was a tellin' em! Eh, fat lady!

As a matter of fact, science supports, to a degree, the theory that prehistoric men were predominantly left-handed. That many of early men's tools were effective only when held in the left hand is brought out by an expert in the German archaeological, Herr Richard Kober.

In further support, as the finding in a prehistoric flint mine in England of a fine flint axe with a huge, left-handed grip.

As to the effectiveness of stone-age tools, a scientist recently felled a four-inch maple tree in six minutes, using a flint axe made by some prehistoric Scandinavian 9000 years ago.
